ABOUT THE STATE.

Items of Interest Gleaned from Our Exchanges.

The 50th anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Luce of Brandon friends observed yesterday and many friends called during the day to extend their congratulations to the aged couple. Mr. Luce is in his 87th year and Mrs. Luce is 82 years old. Both are enjoying fairly good health and are to be congratulated on their more than half a century of life together.

A team of horses belonging to Fred E. Collins of St. Albans and driven by James Finn of High street, backed into an ice hole at the Bay Monday. On the load with Mr. Finn were three boys, Willie Baker, Urbin Longway, and John Sweeney. They all went into the water but were rescued before any harm, more than a wetting, was done. The team was used in hauling ice.

C. A. Peck of East Middlebury has been in Middlebury for the past few days and has been looking over the ground for possibilities of locating a box factory in the village. Several places have been inspected and Mr. Peck seems most favorably impressed with the upper floor of the Emerson mill and propositions for locating there are being considered. If the factory should be located in these quarters the power for running the same would be furnished by the Emerson mill, and when running would employ from 15 to 20 men.

Townsend's hall, so called, in West night, causing a loss of about $2,000. The building was owned by Mrs. Abbie Bidwell and John Townsend of Brattleboro. The lower part was occupied by Charles Taft, who conducted a general merchandise store. The upper part was used as a town hall and contained a tenement occupied by Charles Taft. It is supposed that the fire started from a stove in Mr. Taft's apartments. Mr. Taft removed his merchandise and some of his furniture and stored it in the Rogers Inn, occupied by Elak G. Rogers, but when that building was threatened by flames hung up and water was thrown on them, and in that way Mr. Taft's property was damaged. Mr. Rogers' loss was about $150. The building stood on land owned by the Baptist church. The town is now without a hall.

CURRENT COMMENT.

What the Press of the State and Country is Talking About.

"Five million dollars paid for a lie" is the way J. W. Brown, a Des Moines wholesale produce merchant, describes the sequel to the story concerning the cabbage snake. Some one started a yarn to the effect that a small worm, or snake, was concealed in many of the cabbages on the market, and as a result cabbages are rotting in the produce cellars. People are afraid to buy them. It is estimated that there are at least $10,000 worth of cabbage in Des Moines which no one will purchase, while it is claimed that the damage caused by the story throughout the nation will not be less than $5,000,000. Trade papers are discussing the matter in a furious vein, and regular cabbage raisers declare they would raise a big reward for the punishment of the cabbage snake liar if punishment were possible.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Circumstances Alter Cases.

There was once in New York an Irish tailor whose eccentricities threatened to bring trouble to him, but whose wit always saved him. One morning a Mrs. Murphy came into his shop and found him laboriously working with a pencil and a piece of paper. She asked him what he was doing, and he replied he was making out a list of the men on the block whom he could whip. "Is Murphy's name there?" inquired Mrs. Murphy. The tailor confessed that Murphy's name headed the list. When Murphy heard of this he came to the shop with a list of names in his eyes. He inquired if the report was true. "Sure an' it's true. Plow it off it!" returned the tailor. "You little grasshopper," said Murphy, "I could commit suicide on yer vid me little finger. I could wipe up de flure vid yer vid my hands!" "Are ye sure about that?" asked the tailor. "Sure I'm sure about it." "Well, then," sighed the knight of the shears regretfully, "I'll scratch ye off the list."—Kansas City Star.

No Hope For Cheaper Beef.

Lucien F. Swift, president of Swift & Co., the great Chicago packing concern, taxes public credulity by his statement that there is no combination among the packers to control either the purchase of livestock or the sale of packing-house products. The evidence produced at the various so-called beef trust hearings at Chicago with respect to the harmonious policy of the packers suggests either that the managers of the packing plants are mind readers or that there is some kind of at least informal agreement for limitation of competition. The remarkable coincidence of action as to both buying and selling is otherwise inexplicable.

But as to another phase of the controversy President Swift makes a most effective point. This is his statement that the margin of profit on sales during the last year was only 1-1/2 per cent. The earnings of the Swift Company for the year were $4,200,000, and if this were only 1-1/2 per cent of the gross business, the sales of the company last year were $280,000,000. If these figures are correct no considerable increase in the sum paid for live stock or decrease in the price charged for meat seems possible.

If by the government action or otherwise the whole profits of the company were confiscated and the amount divided equally among live-stock raisers and consumers, the one would receive and the other would pay only three-fourths of 1 per cent more than at present. This difference is not appreciable, and suggests that if the price for live stock is unduly low and for meat unduly high the cause must be sought elsewhere than among the packers.—From the New York Globe.

ANOTHER WONDER OF SCIENCE.

Biology has Proved that Dandruff is Caused by a Germ.

Science is doing wonders these days in medicine as well as in mechanics. Since Adam lived, the human race has been troubled with dandruff, for which no hair preparation has heretofore proved a successful cure until Newbro's Herpicide was put on the market. It is a scientific preparation that kills the germ that makes dandruff or scurf by digging into the scalp to get at the root of the hair, where it saps the vitality, causing itching scalp, falling hair, and finally baldness. Without dandruff hair must grow luxuriantly. It is the only destroyer of dandruff. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

RUSSIAN CATECHISM.

How Muscovite Children Are Taught to Revere the Czar as God's Vicegerent.

The Rev. J. Stewart Smith, pastor of St. Mary's Episcopal church in Kansas City, Mo., has a copy of the catechism taught in all the schools of Russia and Poland, and after reading what the czar's subjects learn as children their temerity in rebelling against Nicholas may be the better understood, says the Kansas City Times. According to this creed, not only are they resisting the head of the Russian government, but they are taking up arms against the representative of God on earth, for which they shall suffer dire and eternal punishment.

Father Smith secured the copy of the catechism from a Polish priest who had escaped from Siberia, and Father Smith was enjoined to the strictest secrecy as to the source of his information, the priest fearing the vengeance of the Russian government upon his relatives in Poland.

The first question in the catechism asks in what light the authority of the czar is to be considered with reference to the spirit of Christianity. The answer is as follows:

As proceeding direct from God.

The second question and answer, which bear upon the first, are:

How is this proved by the nature of things?
It is the will of God that man live in society; hence the various relations that constitute society, which for its better security is divided into parts called nations. The government of these is intrusted to a prince, king or emperor, or, in other words, to a supreme ruler. We see, then, that as man exists in conformity to the will of God, society emanates from the divine will, and more especially the supreme power and authority of our lord and master, the czar.

The framers of the catechism seem to have had in mind the prevention of some such uprising as that now in progress in St. Petersburg when they wrote these passages for the youth of the nation to learn:

Now are irreverence and infidelity to the emperor to be considered in reference to God?

As the most heinous sin, the most fearful criminality.

Does religion, then, forbid us to rebel and overthrow the government of the emperor?

We are interdicted from doing so at all times and under all circumstances.

The absolute subservience expected of his subjects by the czar is shown in the answer to a question as to whether or not the service of the emperor is obligatory. The answer is:

Absolutely so. We should, if required, sacrifice ourselves in compliance with his will, both in a civil and military capacity and in whatever manner he deems expedient.

The supposed divine nature of the czar is emphasized in the answer to a question concerning the "supernatural revealed motives" for the worship of the emperor. The answer to the question is:

The supernatural revealed motives are that the emperor is the vicegerent and minister of God, to execute the divine commands, and consequently, disobedience to the emperor is disobedience to God himself; that God will reward us in the world to come for the worship and obedience we render the emperor and punish us severely to all eternity should we disobey and neglect to worship him. Moreover, God commands us to love and obey from the inmost recesses of the heart every authority, and particularly the emperor, not from worldly considerations, but from apprehension of the final judgment.

The final paragraph of the catechism reads:

Such is the doctrine of the church, confirmed by practice, as to the worship and fidelity due to the omnipotent emperor of Russia, the minister and vicegerent of God.

It may be that wireless will enter almost every sphere of human activity, says a writer in the World's Work.

In railroad travel there will be small excuse for collisions when an engineer can be overtaken between stations or when he can hear from a fellow engineer on the same track long before the fatal curve is reached. Already London is trying a wireless fire alarm system. Perhaps the device can even be made automatic by a thermostatically controlled attachment.
